RightNow products automate online technical support, customer service, and knowledge building for Web-connected businesses and organizations. Our flagship product - RightNow Web, a fully integrated customer service product suite - lifted effective customer service into the age of the Internet. Linking customer self-help, e-mail management, live online chat, and contracts management, RightNow Web sets today's high standard for fast-install, cost-effective customer care.
Driven by out-of-the-box ideas, research, and development, RightNow continues to bring upgraded and complementary products to market. In a rapidly growing marketplace, RightNow products are positioned to become mainstream, tools of Web-connected business and industry:
RightNow Web: Easy-to-use, fast-install tool for unprecedented online customer service and support; routes Web visitors seamlessly through opportunities for self-help, automatic e-mail query/response, and live-chat support; reduces human intervention in the support/service process, resulting in decreased costs, and increased service speed and capacity.
RightNow Contracts: Optional add-on module to RightNow Web; automates the administration of service contracts for service provided through an end date or incident quantity; sends automatic contract renewal prompts; allows restriction of personal service under RightNow Web to customers entitled to such by contract.
RightNow Metrics: Groundbreaking survey and measurement tool to keep your business activities on target; allows online design and dissemination of custom surveys to external and internal parties - any target group you identify - to gather important information for business decision making; immediate reporting with graphic capabilities provides instant feedback for quick action. Can be used standalone or integrated with RightNow Web for service followup.
